Brittney Dobbins
Of Counsel

Brittney Dobbins is an Of Counsel lawyer at Davis Bozeman Johnson Law's Complex Litigation Team. Brittney specializes in litigation matters and client counseling for individuals and corporations in the entertainment, intellectual property, music, technology, employment, and general business and liability matters. She also structures and negotiates entertainment transactions for artists, songwriters, actors, influencers, producers, publishers, and athletes in the music, television, film, and sports industries.

Before starting her practice, Brittney worked as an associate of Richard S. Busch, a Billboard Top Music Lawyer based in Los Angeles, for whom she handled litigation and counseling for some of the biggest stars and creative minds in music.

Brittney has been recognized by The National Black Lawyers in its Top 40 Under 40 list for California and by The National Advocates as one of California's Top 20 Employment Lawyers under the age of 40.

Brittney is motivated by building value and setting and meeting goals. She is a trusted team player who can lead and sustain performance. In her spare time, Brittney teaches yoga or sings at an open mic night. She is also a former elite gymnast and student-athlete.

Brittney has been a guest lecturer/panelist at UCLA's Music Industry 104A and USC's Introduction to the Music Industry in the fall of 2021. She has also appeared as a morning news guest on San Diego CW6 News in 2015, discussing gender equality in the workplace.
